

We are excited to announce that Lewis Cox, son of Dave Cox - Service Manager for PG Skinning, has been awarded an FPSA Career Development Scholarship. Lewis will receive $5000 towards his education on behalf of the FPSA Educational Foundation. Lewis is enrolled at Simpson College in Indianola, IA, and is double majoring in Psychology and Religion.

Each year, the Foundation of the Food Processing Suppliers Association normally awards up to ten, $5,000 scholarships to full time employees of FPSA member companies as well as their immediate family members. For 2017, the Foundation will award 15 scholarships in order to give more members the opportunity to take advantage of this important and meaningful benefit. High school seniors, college students, and graduate students are encouraged to apply.

“Great to see our employees and their families are benefiting from our FPSA membership and participation. Congratulations to the Cox Family”, said Einar Einarsson, President/General Manager of Marel North America.

Since 2011, a member of our Marel family has received one of these scholarships. Previous winners included Jean Xie, Simon Veldkamp, William Xie, and Bethany Green. For more information on the FPSA Career Development Scholarship please visit their website <http://www.fpsa.org/giving-back/>.

Lewis Cox (middle) with his mother and father